PYC E-Newsletter | 2nd Quarter: April-June 2025

A Message From

THE CHAIRPERSON

Warm greetings from Purnomo Yusgiantoro Center!

In April, PYC commemorated Kartini Day by organizing a social outreach program for female workers, particularly the blue-collar professions such as TransJakarta bus drivers and PPSU officers. During the event, participants received breast cancer awareness education and training on the SADARI self-examination method.

In May, we launched the latest episode of Energy Drink #36 "Is the Upstream Palm Oil Sector Ready to Support the Mandatory Biodiesel Policy?" on our YouTube channel. The episode explores the readiness of the upstream sector to support Indonesia's expanding biodiesel policy, as well as the impact of B40 and B50 mandates on palm oil supply, farmer welfare, and export continuity.

This quarter is also a special milestone as PYC celebrates its 9th anniversary. To mark the occasion, we held a series of events under the theme "9rowing Chapter: A Symphony of Culture, Knowledge, and Innovation." The celebration began with PYC Fest 2025, featuring a fun walk with participation from disabled communities, children from orphanages, and PPSU officers from Melawai and Kramat Pela sub-districts. The event also included a wellness zone, a gratitude photo wall, kolintang music performance, local culinary delights from MSMEs, and traditional games such as congklak, egrang, engklek, and bakiak. A special performance by IDGITAF added to the festivities.

At the highlight of the anniversary, PYC presented the PYC Award to three inspiring figures: Elaine Low (Low Tuck Kwong Foundation), Anna Skarbek (Climateworks Centre) and Alexander Irwan (Ford Foundation) in recognition of their contributions in the fields of knowledge and innovation. The Best Costume Award was also given to guests who wore the best traditional Indonesian attire, as a tribute to the preservation of cultural values.

During this period, PYC also actively participated in several key forums such as The 49th IPA Convention & Exhibition; the National Leadership Development and Consolidation Program (P4N Lemhannas RI); Australia-Indonesia Energy Transition Dialogue and many more, where we shared insights and recommendations on energy-related issues.

Looking ahead, we are pleased to share that PYC will be hosting events in the upcoming quarter: International Energy Conference 2025, PYC Kolintang Competition and Junior Chess Championship 2025.

We remain committed to building strong connections and look forward to welcoming you at our upcoming conferences!

Filda Citra Yusgiantoro, Ph.D.

"Is the Upstream Palm Oil Sector Ready to Support the Mandatory Biodiesel Policy? "

Indonesia keeps ramping up the usage of biodiesel to suppress carbon emission and reduce dependency on fossil fuel. But, will the upstream sector-the reduced production of palm oil to the limited infrastructure and incentive-support this ambition ?

How will the policy of B40 and B50 plan influence palm supply, farmer welfare, and export continuity? What is the major challenge faced by the government and industry major players to support the continuity of palm based energy ?
